How Do I Tell Him?

The day had comeâ€¦jack had to talk to hiccup about ageing. Since the man on the moon chose him, he had to watch people die and age while he'd stay same old-well young- jack. Sure it never mattered, seeing as he could never have a relationship because no one can see him, but over the past 8 years he has found someone, someone who just needed life to send him someone, someone to talk to one cold winter night after he lost his mother. That boy has changed the hellish game that is jacks life. Soon after hiccup had changed the mind of his village about dragons he also got them to believe in jack, this had proven is love for the boy and as soon as the whole village believed in him, he kissed him, sure maybe that wasn't the best idea seeing as A. jack didn't know if hiccup felt the same or B. how the village felt about the whole homosexual seen, but to his surprise hiccup kissed him back and the crowd cheered.

His life had been so great with hiccup in it; he had only met him when he was ten and now he is seventeen, and getting older every day. Just the thought of not having hic in his life made jack want to vomit. The time had come to prepare himself and hiccup for heart break.

Him and hiccup had been living together for a little over two years, and jack is prepared to do everything he can to make it so hiccup â€“his hiccup- would not cry.
